

Digital Cutting/Creasing

THINKING (AND FINISHING) OUTSIDE THE BOX

When it comes to our customers' retail specialty items, Carolina Graphics Services never fails to turn fresh ideas into reality. Our Highcon™ Euclid direct-to-pack digital cutting and creasing machine transforms the elaborate, mechanical-based folding carton manufacturing method into a fast and flexible digital process ... giving your designers free reign to be adventurous ... and saving you time and money.

IMAGINATION WITHOUT LIMITATION

Conventional die-cutting has limits. With the Highcon Euclid, Carolina Graphics Services converts your jobs – from folding cartons to specialty promotional items – without tooling. Its delicate and unlimited cutting options incorporate Highcon's patented Digital Adhesive Rule Technology (DART) to produce creases and high-speed laser optics to cut and etch.

WHAT DOES THAT MEAN FOR YOU?

Stopping Power – Your retail-ready packaging and promotional items are limited only by your imagination. The Highcon Euclid handles multiple substrates, intricate cutting (cuts as close as you want), and even etching.

Fast Turnaround – With just your CAD file, this direct-to-pack system is cutting, trimming, gluing and packing within minutes.

Flexibility on Large & Short Runs – Your solution for mock-ups and small-volume packaging tests, without the time and expense of tooling, the Highcon Euclid runs low quantities without compromising quality. Likewise, Carolina Graphics Services provides offset printing for higher volumes and seamlessly leverages this system for converting and finishing.

No Die-Cutting Costs – With shorter set-up times and no tooling during pre-production, this digital finishing system is good news for your bottom line.

About Carolina Graphic Services
